

Support for Faculty

The Writing Skills Improvement Program (WSIP) is a professional academic writing center in the College of Humanities at the University of Arizona. We provide support to writers at all academic levels and across all disciplines. Our staff members are professional teachers, editors, writers, and tutors.

Contact writingskills@email.arizona.edu or visit us online at www.wsip.arizona.edu for more information.

What kind of writing can we support you in?

- grant applications
- P & T: teaching statements, candidate statements, pandemic statements
- academic publications
- popular press
- Something else? Ask us!

FEE-BASED

- Consultation/Coaching Sessions: Meet with a writing specialist to review documents, identify writing patterns, and discuss strategies for writing development.
- Small Group Sessions: WSIP facilitates meetings with 2-4 faculty members. Meetings may include peer feedback and/or writing time.
- Editing: Direct editing of most documents. Editing and consultation services may both be purchased for the same project.
- Online Writing Room: Access to weekly writing room, writing resources, and consultation.
- Custom Delivery Workshops: Workshops delivered upon request to programs, organizations, classes, etc. Available year-round.

FREE

- Classroom presentations: WSIP will visit your class to provide an overview of services for undergraduate or graduate students (10-20 minutes).